D-Cart Team Size: 1 Key Skills: Next.js CSS Solidity Ethereum Web3.js Firebase An e-Commerce platform comprises of a giant inventory of commodities, an even bigger consumer base, it is also quite difficult to manage those tasks. With the help of Ethereum and Smart Contract we build a E-Commerce website on top of Blockchain. -> A user can create account as SELLER or BUYER with their Wallet Address -> Seller can add their products on DCart and Buyer can buy them with the help of Token which is used as payment method inside the Application -> Next.js is used to build the User Interface for the application -> With the help of Web3.js, I connected my Smart Contract with UI. CrowdFunding Key Skills: Blockchain Solidity Next.js Javascript Web3.js Ethereum It's an crowdfunding web app build with the help of Ethereum, Web3.js and Next.js. -> Any one who needs funding to build their project can create a campaign and request people to contribute in his campaign for some goods/ product. -> But the money contributed by contributors is stored in some decentralized account and can't be accessed directly by the Campaign Manager(in order to avoid any scam). -> A campaign Manager needs to create a request to access some account of money and the contributors will voted on that request if "YES" votes are more than 50%, the campaign manager will get the required amount of money. This project is an improved version of KICKSTARTER website, because in KICKSTARTER all the money is directly sent to the campaign Manager and its up to them if they want to use it for their product or run off with all that money.
